SOCIAL CORNER POETEY. GOLDENBOD.

Then the wayside tangles blass to the low September sun,
when the flowers of Summer days
Droop and wither, one by one,
saching up through bush and orier,
complises brow and heart of fire
flaunting high its wind-recked plume, trave with wealth of native bloom—

then the meadow, lately shorn. Parched and languid, swoons with pain.

Then her life-blood, night and morn, Shrinzs in every throbbing veln,
though her fallen, tarnished urn, Leaping watth-fires brighter burn;
floyal arch o'er Autumn's gate,
liending low with lustrous weight—
Goldenrod!

In the pasture's rude embrace.
All o'errun with tangled vines.
Where the thistic claims its place,
And the straggling hedge confines,
Bearing sith the sweet impress
of unfettered loveliness,
in the field and by the wall,
minding, dissping, crowning all—Goldonrod!

THE SOCIAL CORNER PICNIC AT

WILDWOOD PARK. Dear Social Corner Sisters: They came from near, they came from far, by automobile and trolley car, and all stopped off at a beautiful lake, a Social Corner picule to make.

We greeted old friends, also new, with kindly chat the minutes flew. And with kindly chat the minutes flew. And soon the hour of noen drew near when we would eat and make good cheer. Ere we sat down the food to share each one stood up beside her chair and sang their praise in accents slow, to One from whom all blessings flew.

Then down to the table each one sat and obeyed the saying "Laugh and grow fat." With rolls, salads, sandwiches, beans and brown bread, cake, buns and fruit our table was spread. No need to tell you if all was just. cake. This will keep the rest of the cake from burning and the cake will

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Friends: I have recently visited the Bill Library in Groton and was very much interested in the collection of batter-files. There are specimens from all parts of the world. Some are really wonderfell. They are beautifully mounted, and great taste is displayed in their arrangement. I think those from South America are the finest, being so large and with such stelling colors. Then there is a beautiful collection of both native and foreign birds. The Bill collection includes all our native birds, finely mounted, and they are joyed and thought our minds were well employed. Elach sister then on a magic scroll, read what the future for her scroll, read what the future for her did hold.
